I wonder if you are really so quick as you appear to be. (??)
will meet you.

Joan,
If we can always and watch those boys alright? alright!
Stay and sweet price
+ cute as you are are always. (??)

Joan,
The girl with the prettiest patted hair in the whole school. Give loads of fun this summer.
Joan

Dear Joan,
 It's been such fun knowing you these last few years and I hope we will always be good friends. Don't forget me this summer when you're having fun with all your boyfriends. Now I'm going to say bye to one of the sweetest, cutest kids I know.

PROLOGUE

This first edition of the VERBUM is a survey of the development of our school and the intellectual, spiritual and social growth of our students through the years of 1958-62. These were the formative years -- the years in which our traditions were founded.

Archbishop Murray (1877-1956), the third Archbishop, served the people of the St. Paul Archdiocese for twenty-five years. It was during the latter part of his administration that the plans for our school were formulated. His virtue of faith was expressed in his deep devotion, prayer and hard work. He lived the practices of the Faith to further his objective of making the Church known and loved. Our school emblem, "Verbum Ipsius Quasi Facula," aptly combines the ideals of our Patriarch Benedict and our saintly Archbishop John Gregory Murray.

Archbishop Murray was succeeded by Archbishop William O. Brady (1899-1961), who, for five years, guided the people of St. Paul. As a far-seeing planner of Catholic secondary schools and a prudent administrator, Archbishop Brady saw to the fulfillment of the plans for this school. His deep, manly, practical spirituality make him a natural teacher. He was a zealous priest with a gentle heart and a brilliant mind. An inspiring leader of decisive action, he brought Christ's love and understanding to his people.

To say that death brings sorrow to those left behind is hardly enough in the case of these two men. They were more than just men; they were examples leading us ever on to the Eternal Light. It is to this spirit of love and devotion shown by these two men that we humbly dedicate this VERBUM.

Joan,
I hope you had as much fun this year as I've had.
Lots of luck to a real sharp kid
Remember me always,
Love
Shirley

Various stages in the building of Archbishop Murray Memorial High School

Shown on the stage steps of the auditorium are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence O'Shaughnessy, Mr. Ignatius O'Shaughnessy, and Sister Irena, OSB. Through the generosity of Mr. Ignatius O'Shaughnessy, our school has one of the finest auditoriums and stages to be found in Midwestern high schools. A prominent decorative note in the auditorium is the O'Shaughnessy coat of arms designed by Sister Irena.

DEDICATION DAY

NOVEMBER 23, 1958

At the dedication ceremonies, Reverend John Roach of St. Thomas introduced the Right Reverend Baldwin Dworschak, Abbot of St. John's, who gave the invocation followed by greetings from Miles Lord for Governor Freeman, from Mayor Dillon of St. Paul, and Mayor Luebben of Maplewood. Addresses were given by Mr. William Cofell, Professor at St. John's, and by Mother Marcelline, Prioress of St. Paul's Priory, whence come the Benedictine staff for the school. Following his address, Archbishop Brady formally blessed the building, as shown below.

Mother Marcelline and Sister Claire welcome Sharon Collins as the first registrant for Archbishop Murray Memorial High School.

The uniforms receive unanimous approval from Sandy Peltier, Connie Apman, and Sandy Shalz.

The school emblem incorporates many of the Benedictine ideals. The motto at the bottom of the emblem, "Verbum Ipsius Quasi Facula," is translated, "His Word is as a Flaming Torch." This quotation refers to the Holy Spirit, through Whom all human wisdom is attained. We are reminded also of the "words" of Saint Benedict, Saint Paul, and those of Archbishop John G. Murray, in whose honor our school has been named.

The HOME and SCHOOL ASSOCIATION was initiated to assist parents and FACULTY in acquiring a true appreciation of the ideals of a Catholic education; to promote clearer understanding and more cooperation in discharging their mutual responsibilities; to help parents solve the problems of the high school student and to promote projects of benefit to the school. The officers for the years of 1958-1959, pictured at the left, were Mrs. H. Steiner, Secretary, Mr. H. Goossens, Committee Chairman, Mrs. J. Foster, Committee Chairman, and Mr. D. Brown, President.

In the first STUDENT COUNCIL seven homerooms were represented with Sr. Claire as advisor. Since then it has developed in fulfilling its purposes of uniting students and faculty, upholding the high standards of the school, stimulating co-curricular activities, acquainting students with the principles and practice of self-government, and promoting the general welfare of the school. Its present membership of twenty-four homerooms is an indication of its growth with the school.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH among the students was stimulated by the May Day Coronation and the Father-Daughter Communion Breakfast, which also provided an opportunity for fathers and daughters to become acquainted with others.

Shown below are the fathers and daughters at Mass and the breakfast following.

Joanne Cotroneo was chosen to crown Our Lady at the first May Day Coronation.

Sister Jean admires Charlotte Kelly's Christmas centerpiece.

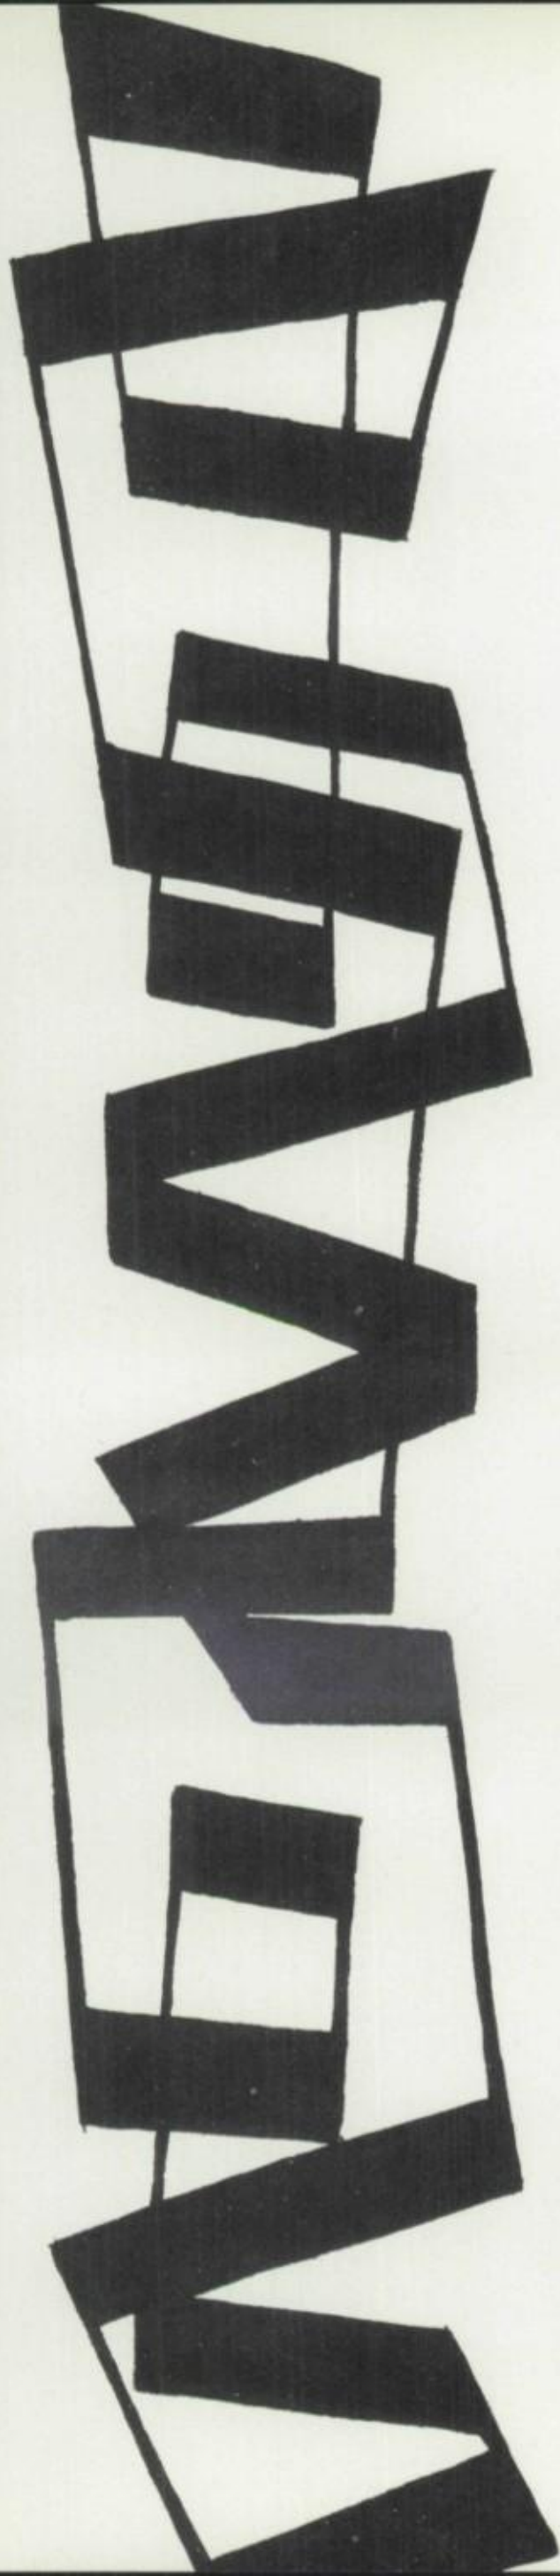

The cast of "Pyramus and Thisbe"

ACADEMIC GROWTH was furthered by the use of special projects and outside activities. Sister Jean's algebra classes devoted their talents to making Christmas centerpieces, while Sister Patrick's English class re-enacted a scene from A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM. Healthy competition and good sportsmanship were encouraged by the intramural volleyball tournament.

Miss Klein, the new biology teacher, points out the intricacies of a biology project to Sister Patrick. These and many similar projects in other classes stimulate the student's desire to learn.

During the long administration of the Student Council officers elected in February of 1960, the Council body changed twice. Seated at the table are the officers, Jackie Sparkman, Treasurer, Mary LaCasse, Vice President, Karen Lewanovich, President, and Kathy Campbell, Secretary. The representatives shown above were elected with the officers in February. ROW 1: M. Haider, M. Hable, M. Sparkman, K. Naughtner, M. O'Leary, L. Lapore, P. Melander. ROW 2: R. Belland, K. Shiltgen, J. Roux, J. Gentile, D. Hansen, P. Urlick, R. Misgen, and K. Crofoot.

Interest in biology ranges from dissecting frogs to planting lilac trees in the school yard. These projects, supervised by Miss Klein, provided knowledge for the girls and appreciated service for the school.

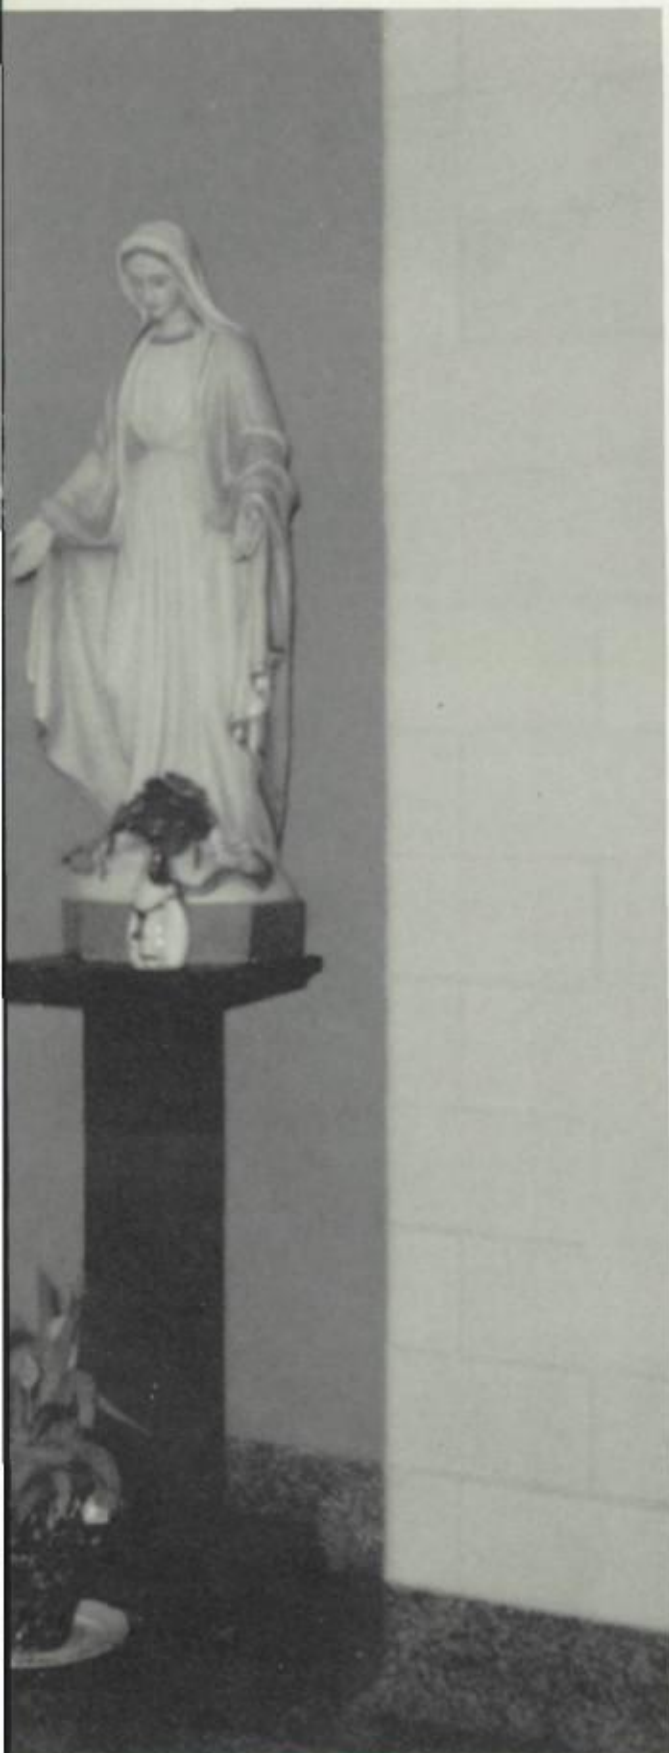

CONTACT furthers the work of saving souls. Its main objectives are to establish and increase our life of grace, and to Christianize students and their social institutions. These goals are achieved by regular meetings and projects, such as, the All-City Mass, the Lenten Open House Series, Baskets for the poor, and outings sponsored by the CYC.

THE SODALITY organizes Catholics under Our Lady's name. With their motto, "To Jesus Through Mary," they aim at making their members outstanding Catholics through self-sanctification, sanctification of others, and defense of the Church. These aims are realized through their sponsorship of the Golden Mass, the SODALITE, the May Day Coronation, and their care of the altar.

The Home-School Association officers discussing plans for the Fall Festival with Sister Claire are Mr. J. Berney, Vice President, Mr. L. Herron, President, and Mrs. Timm, Secretary.

In cooperation with the student body, the Home-School Association sponsored the first Fall Festival on November 15, 1959, which later became an annual event. Everyone shared in the work; students from each homeroom operated booths built by the fathers, and the home economic students and mothers served dinner in the cafeteria. A one hundred dollar War Bond, a seventeen inch portable television, and an electric clock radio were raffled off at the Festival.

SOCIAL GROWTH was encouraged by the first mixer with Hill High School. That was the year of long skirts, T-strap shoes, and the STROLL.

Exuberantly swinging to the music of the MEXICAN HAT ROCK are Doreen Capra and her partner. Lois Mortinson and a friend stroll down the line.

The O'Shaughnessians' first production was SEVEN NUNS AT LAS VEGAS. The plot told of seven bewildered nuns who found themselves mysteriously transported, convent and all, to the Nevada desert, because of a wish made to St. Joseph by an arthritic nun. The difficulties and humorous situations that arose when three Las Vegas show girls decided to enter their convent will long be remembered.

Upper right: Director, Miss Daley, and Student Director, Maryann Haider, display the flowers presented to them by the cast.

To the left, the "South Pacific" group rings out with "There Is Nothin' Like A Dame" at the 1960 Talent Show. This show has become an annual production, put on by the students for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

Left: Phyllis Andert, having returned from a year's study in England where her father was stationed with the Air Force, becomes acquainted with our foreign exchange student from Chile, Carme Segovia. During Carmen's year here, she stayed with the Mayor Forrest Schmid family. Carmen gave us a taste of Chilean "sparkle" and in return for her sincere interest in us, she took with her our lasting friendship.

Lower left: Laden with new books, Sandy Joiner optimistically looks forward to her Junior year as her subject list is approved.

Saint Paul's Chapter of the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY of Archbishop Murray Memorial High School was founded in February of 1961. The object of the chapter is to develop a profound respect for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership and to encourage the development of character in the students.

Sister Thomas' Art Corner

Above, M. Galligan, M. O'Mara, K. Ciernia, and J. Sparkman examine two of the Science Fair entries.

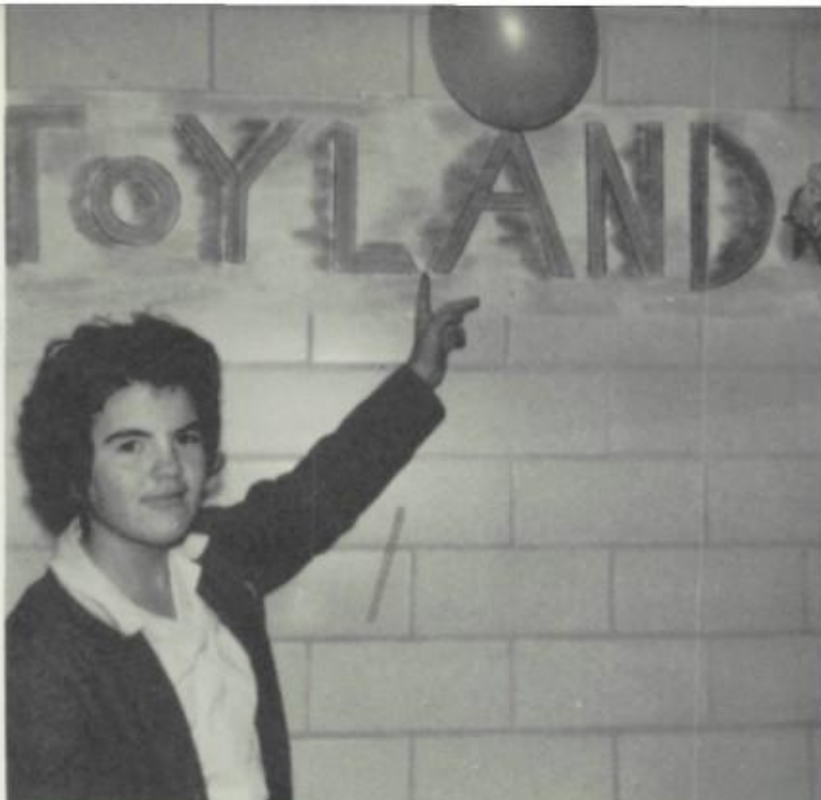

Below, Miss Torberg, Bonnie Smith, and Mayor Forrest Schmid of Maplewood plan the Arbor Day ceremonies.

The first Roman Banquet held between Archbishop Murray and Hill took place on March 16. Our Latin III students were honored as the Vestal Virgins. The Latin II students were the noblemen and women while the freshmen served as slaves. Pictured below, Eileen Houle is being crowned Queen of the Banquet by George Grafsky as Caesar, with Bernie Schmidt and Joe Chenoweth attending. The other scene is in Hill's gym, serving as the amphitheatre where chariot racing, re-enactments of Shakespeare's JULIUS CAESAR, and other events took place.

Rita LaCasse points the way to Toyland, a part of the Festival reserved for the small fry.

Mr. Bartholomew, a jack of all trades, helps in the preparations by building the homeroom booths in the gym.

FUND-RAISING PROJECTS

The Home-School Association, directed by the officers pictured at the left: Mr. H. Agee, Vice President, Mrs. J. Krois, Secretary, Mr. E. O'Mara, Treasurer, and Mr. J. Berney, President, sponsored several projects throughout the year. The Magazine Drive was followed by the Fall Festival on November 13, 1960. The sale of chocolate bars was launched shortly after.

Pictured below is the cast of the skit given to get the Chocolate Bar Drive off to a good start. Their impersonations of the faculty amused both students and teachers alike. Kathy Gergen receives the award for the high salesman in the Magazine Drive from Miss Collins.

The religious life of the student is further cultivated by Contact, Sodality, and the annual retreat.

Upper left: The Sodalities are installed by Bishop O'Keefe. Formerly, a monsignor and spiritual director of Sodality, now he is Chancellor and Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of St. Paul, Rector of the Cathedral of St. Paul, and Titular Bishop of Candyba.

Upper right: Marie Sparkman, Mary Lou Lavicott, and Diane Schuster model for the 1961 SPRING FASHION SHOW, sponsored by Contact to promote good taste in dress.

Below: Sister Claire reviews the girls as they prepare to take part in the MAY DAY FAMILY ROSARY PROCESSION.

In a joint venture, Archbishop Murray and Hill produced the first operetta, THE FORTUNE TELLER, under the direction of Sister Rochelle, Miss Daley, and Mr. Holtz. Backstage operations were frantically carried on until the last minute. ABOVE, Mary LaCasse applies the finishing touches to Judy Morrisette's makeup and the stage crew finishes the scenery. On the RIGHT is part of the cast, Judy Morrisette, Dan Grout, Eydie Brown, and Pat Dittberner.

To the left are Bonnie Smith and Karen Lewanovich, two members of the Modern Dance Club. This group was formed to channel their self-expression through interpretive dancing. Miss Kelly and Miss Klein are the moderators of the club and help the girls with their own choreography.

THE LAND OF THE DRAGON, by Madge Miller, was done in typical Oriental style, with narration by a stage manager and no scenery. A traditional theme was romantically placed in the Orient. Though greedy relatives plotted to destroy the love between Jade Pure and Road Wanderer, "love conquers all."

Upper right: Terry St. Sauver serves Miss Johnson during the annual Mother-Daughter Tea. The tea was preceded by a style show presented by the home economics class.

Left: Just in time for Valentine's Day is this greeting from an anonymous suitor to his girl friend "Pat." This was the last in a series of water tower greetings.

Right: Maureen Murray, Kathy Conlan, Terry St. Sauver, and Judy Arceno model their new sweatshirts while participating in G.A.A. activities.

On April 21, 1961, the Juniors held their first formal dance. Waltzing under soft lights, the couples enjoyed the music of the "Saints" while the rock garden, blossoming cherry trees, and the gaily decorated pagoda lent to the fantasy of the faraway Oriental Gardens.

Each year the Epiphany party produces new surprises and fun. Queen Mary IV, the former Sue Ettel, shown here being crowned by her predecessor, Diane Broz, welcomes the festivities of the day with regal enthusiasm. As in former years, she was chosen by discovering a dime the key to the crown, in a piece of chocolate cake.

Below; Karen Zimmerman, Kathy Goossens, and Barb Taylor are experimenting in preparation for the "Science Student Recognition Day" sponsored by 3M.

Below R.; "Who Shall Find A Valiant Woman?" was the theme of the first Senior Mother-Daughter Mass and Communion breakfast, held January 28, 1962. Father Richard Moudry was the celebrant and speaker.

Right: Mr. Richard Sieber and Mr. Leo Moore present awards to Nancy Koethe and Seaneen Brennan for their Christmas posters. The posters were drawn by the art classes under the direction of Miss Gorman for participation in the Knights of Columbus' "Put Christ back into Christmas" program.

Sister Judith's French II class presented "Aucassin et Nicolette" entirely in French. Above: Jane Adam, Suzanne Richie, Pat Geraghty, Kathy Schifsky, Maryann Haider, Maureen Garvey, and Michele LaBore display their costumes in Count Garin's Court. Shown in rehearsal are Michele LaBore, Harriet Horwath, Mary Lou Gorman, and Maureen Garvey under the direction of Sister Judith. This production will be remembered for increasing our appreciation of French language and culture.

Sue Vance, Mary Ann Sutkowski, Maureen McCormick, Leslie Iten, and Lynda Jerome display the projects that they prepared for Sister Rosemary's ancient history class.

Mickey Leary and Bob Manship dance to the music of the Bob Hejny Band at the first open mixer, held on November 17, 1961. It was sponsored by the Junior and Senior classes. Goblins, witches, and black cats helped to carry out the Halloween theme.

Below: Students frequently find themselves helping with cleanup, a phase of social life which is less appealing, but often is surprisingly "fun."

Lower left: In descending order are C. Plumbo, C. Reilly, N. Sarrack, M. Horwath, M. Murray, and C. Connolly, the MURRAY CHEERLEADERS for Hill High School.

Serious Thoughts

Above, Sophomore class officers Kathy Selz, Secretary, Sharon Gonsoski, President, Molly Donovan, Vice President, and Mary Horwath, Treasurer, discuss the agenda of an upcoming class meeting.

The academic world of the Sophomore is supplemented with biology, geometry, and various standardized tests.

To the left are Kathy Young and Jean Scholtis poring over the Iowa Test of Educational Development.

In descending order, the Junior Class officers are Joan Kelly, Secretary, Jackie Gentile, Vice President, Kathy Campbell, President, and Terry St. Sauver, Treasurer.

The Junior curriculum is geared to expose the students to the achievements of our country and world cultures through their American history, art and music appreciation courses.

On the facing page, Karen Rose and Charlie Fay Bell examine contemporary prints while Joanne Milette listens to Rimsky Korsakov's SCHEHERZADE and Carol Belotti and Ginger Biermeier become acquainted with two orchestral instruments.

To the right, Kathy Campbell, Joan Kelly, and Jackie Gentile decorate the gym for the first mixer of the year.

The last harried days of a school year recall the clubs, banquets, program speakers and dances that were not to be found back in 1958. It seems that the colorful activities of these last days always stand out most, especially in the minds of the first seniors as they prepare to become the first graduates. This supplement will show only a portion of the enlarged program of activities which is the result of four years of planning and development.

UPPER LEFT: Sister Carolyn has been seen by the students in the bookstore, collecting lunch money and keeping track of the absent and the tardy. Her biggest task is keeping the finances of AMM in good order.

UPPER RIGHT: Assistant Principal, Sister Mary Charles, also teaches algebra and typing.

LOWER LEFT: Mother Lorraine, the superior of the community of sisters who live at AMM, also teaches religion.

RIGHT: Sister Claire, our principal for these first four years, has guided and inspired students and faculty alike with her unceasing zeal. One facet of her multi-tasked day is sending announcements over the P.A.

The faculty has increased from 12 to 38 in these four years. A growing school implies such an increase in teachers to guide the education of the student body. Those teachers not seen on these pages may be found elsewhere in the book.

Above, CLOCKWISE: 1: Mrs. Cosgrove, who broke her arm midway in the year, returns one day to visit and kibitz. 2: Mrs. Holtkamp and Mrs. People prepare one of the many delicious meals served in the cafeteria. 3 & 4: Mr. Toetschinger and Mr. Dubey are seen in only two of their many and varied duties as custodians of AMM.

Right, TOP TO BOTTOM: 1: Director of the B Glee Club and of choral singing, Sister Michael also teaches Freshman religion. 2. Mrs. Rogers, who teaches commercial subjects, is shown with the representative of the Underwood-Olivetti Co. and some of the machines they loaned the office practice class. 3: Mr. O'Rourke, science and math teacher, is shown in his chemistry class. 4: Miss Ward, who teaches English and religion, spent one year after graduation from college as a lay missionary in the Bahamas with Miss Torberg. 5: Shown examining one of the rare editions in the library are other members of the English department: Mrs. Albrecht, Sister Elizabeth, and Sister Denise.

ROUND OUT PROGRAM AT AMM

Among the fine programs and speakers presented to the student body in 1961-2, two who received the warmest response were Miss Elizabeth Reid and Miss Genevieve Caulfield. Miss Reid, who works in the mission field with the Grail movement, inspired the students with tales of her work in Africa and Southeast Asia. Miss Caulfield, who works with her fellow blind in Thailand, told of her experiences setting up the first school for the blind in that country. The sponsors of the AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB, Sister Marcia and Mr. Rapley, train the members to operate the audio-visual equipment such as the movie and slide projectors. Thus the club may give service to the teacher in the classroom and may assist in presenting programs. The SCIENCE CLUB offers the science-minded girl an opportunity to broaden her experience in science through projects, experiments and field trips. AUXILIA, a service organization for Freshmen, was begun this year by Sister Marie. The members serve where needed--ushering for programs serving faculty dinners, helping with teas and the like.

Sister Marcia tinkers with the movie projector in the projection room high above the auditorium.

Members of Auxilia, A. Simek, J. Starzecki, J. Pierce, M. Kajer, C. Kielkicki, B. Tobritzhofer, J. Karels and R. Gresbak prepare to serve the baccalaureate breakfast.

"In Memory of Pamela Pilot" reads the inscription on this statue of the Blessed Virgin. Purchased by the student body, it stands in the main corridor as a permanent memorial to Pamela Pilot. Pam, a sophomore, beloved by her classmates for her sparkle and zest, died suddenly in the fall of 1961.

PUBLICATIONS AT AMM

The VERBUM is a yearbook--a record of the year, its people and events, at AMM. This first edition varies only in that it covers the four years instead of one. To produce this record the 30 staff members with sponsor, Miss Ruemmele, worked long and late selecting pictures, drawing layouts and writing copy to meet those omnipresent deadlines. The book in your hands is the result of these efforts. We hope that you are enjoying it.

ABOVE: Sponsor, Miss Ruemmele, encourages staff members K. Zimmerman, S. Schalz and M. L. Lavicott as they sketch layouts to meet a deadline.

RIGHT: The VERBUM has arrived! Anxious staff members crowd 123 to get a preview. K. Zimmerman and S. Schalz listen to the praise--or criticism?--of the book given by Miss Ruemmele.

VERBUM, MITER and Photography Club members spent their Thanksgiving vacation at the NSPA convention in Chicago. Excited anticipation marked the train trip to the "windy city"; returning, the group was much quieter, thinking over what they had learned or seen, or just plain sleeping after two hectic days!

O'SHAUGHNESSIANS PRODUCE

THORNTON WILDER'S THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH

"The Skin of Our Teeth" presents the idea that man is continually involving himself in seemingly impossible scrapes and emerging just by the skin of his teeth. The play follows the Antrobus family down thru the Ages. Not the easiest of play to produce--Mrs. Albrecht and the cast and crew are to be commended for the caliber of their production and, especially, the fine stage sets.

NIGHT OF KNIGHTS

MAY 11

The gym transformed into a medieval castle, moat and all ...
A drawbridge leading from the castle to the refreshment room ...
Court jesters to serve punch and run errands ...
Dancing to the music of Jack Rose under a sky of variegated blue ...
All to provide the Knights and their Ladies a "Night of Knights" ...
The annual Junior-Senior dance.

LEFT: Sandy Schuna and her knight cross the drawbridge to be greeted by a trio of gaily-garbed court jesters.
RIGHT: Jesters, Cindy Bongard and Stephanie Tauer, cavort on the bridge between duties.

The PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB serves both publications at AMM by providing the pictures of people and events as they are needed. The members of the club learn how to operate cameras and equipment so as to "snap" the best possible pictures and to increase their own enjoyment of photography as a hobby. The club also held a photo contest this spring. The winning entry is at left: "Scientists at Work" by club president, June Nolan.

THE MITER, AMM's newspaper was published 8 times during 1961-2 by the journalism class with the guidance of Sister Patrick. Producing THE MITER trains the girls in the techniques of interviewing and reporting and the use of language and composition suitable for journalism. It also trains them in promptness and responsibility for they, too, have schedules to follow and deadlines to meet.

ROMAN, FRENCH, GAA BANQUETS HIGHLIGHT SPRING ACTIVITIES

The second annual ROMAN BANQUET for AMM and Hill Latin students was held April 30. One of the few inter-school functions with an academic basis, it is an event eyed with envy by first year students and enjoyed by advanced students for two successive years.

A replica of the Eiffel tower, tri-color streamers, multi-colored flowers and a menu of typical French dishes set a springtime Parisian mood for the first FRENCH BANQUET. Given by the first and second year students for the parents of the second year students, the banquet was such a success that it is hoped it will be repeated in future years.

The many activities of the Girls' Athletic Association culminated in a GAA AWARDS BANQUET May 23. During the year members were most active in bowling leagues, a volleyball tournament, a toboggan party and a Freshman father-daughter volleyball game.

UPPER RIGHT: Michele LaBore and some of the parents pause between courses at the French Dinner to watch some of the entertainers.

LOWER RIGHT: Michele LaBore and Maureen Garvey display their talents to entertain at the French Dinner.

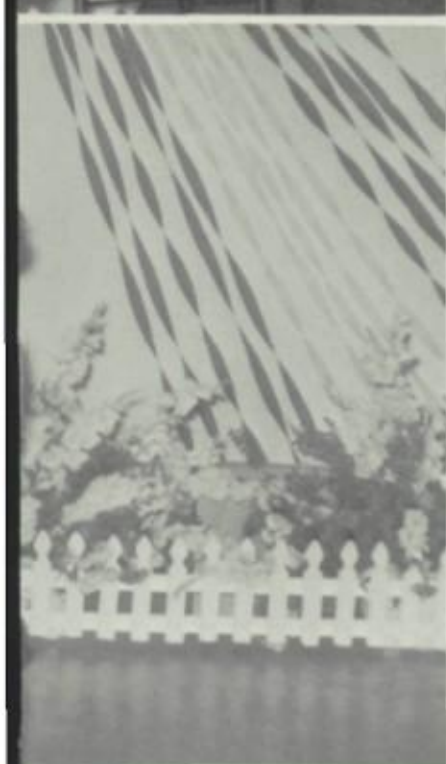

BELOW: At the GAA Banquet Mary Ann Krois, Miss Kelly and Mrs. Milton, sponsors, and Marilyn Ciernia indicate by their smiles that the year was fun as well as active.

FAR RIGHT, UPPER: Kathy Bartz, as Vesta, cleanses her fingers with the help of slaves, Gerry Seiler and Kathy Selz, as Mary Galligan waits her turn.

FAR RIGHT, LOWER A: Pat Crotty and her parents examine some of the flowers decorating the French cafe.

GLEE CLUBS PRESENT SPRING CONCERT

LEFT: During the Grand March, Karen Lewanovich takes a carnation from a bouquet in front of the statue of the Bless Virgin. Attached to the carnation that each girl received was a medal, a token of dedication to Our Lady.
 UPPER RIGHT: Judy Mulcahy asks for the approval of the group of Juniors decorating the arch for the dance.
 LOWER RIGHT: Dorothy Biermann and Barbara Atkins and escorts pause in the dancing for a toast to the evening's festivities.

Father Leander blesses Isabel Robinson's class ring.

Upon the request of the Junior Class, Father Leander, school chaplain, blessed their school rings in a special ceremony. Then Sister Claire placed the ring on each girl's finger.

The Charter Class presented as a class memorial the flag pole which is shown here at the dedication ceremonies. The flag was given AMM by the American Legion. The St. Paul's Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted 10 seniors and 6 juniors in ceremonies held in March. This brings total membership in the Society to 21.

FIRST COMMENCEMENT

On June 3, the first four years of Amm culminated in the graduation of the Charter Class. While understandably a day of great emotion for the graduating class, it was also a momentous day for the faculty and the Sisters of St. Paul's Priory. These graduates are the first fruits of the long years of planning and striving involved in the development of AMM.

Shown upper left with Student Council President, Parbara Taylor and Senior Class President, Eileen Houle, is Bishop Gerald O'Keefe who presented the diplomas to the graduates. It was most fitting that he should do so since he was closely associated with AMM for several years as chaplain of the Sodality.

LEFT: Senator Eugene McCarthy, who gave the commencement address, congratulates Salutatorian Kathy Goossens and Valedictorian Karen Zimmerman. LOWER LEFT: Father Moudry, who celebrated the Baccalaureate Mass, converses with Judy Buck, Meredith Michaud, and Pat Jansen. BELOW: Rose-bearer, Jackie Gentile, leads one part of the academic procession into the auditorium. Following her are Jane Adam, Kathie Adams, Judy Arceno and Carole Brandl.

These were the formative years--the years in which our traditions were founded. We hope that these traditions founded amid happiness, toil, success and failure will live on as a permanent remembrance of the Charter Class of Archbishop Murray Memorial High School. Well-developed in Christian principles and the Benedictine tradition, the seniors of 1962 greet the unknown future courageously. The paths followed will be varied but none shall fear, "for Thou are with us even to the consummation of the world."
